

Signing Authority for Academic Salary Support Requests Research Projects and Agreements

Some sponsors allow faculty members to request academic salary support in their project budgets for the time they will spend on research activities. Considered an eligible expense, academic salary support may take three forms:

- x Salary supplements are funds requested on top of a faculty member's regular salary
- x Salary replacement is a portion of a faculty member's salary paid by the sponsor that then allows the university to release institutional funds;
- x Replacement of clinical income are funds used to reimburse physicians for clinical activities (for physicians only).

The Office of Sponsored Research introduced the Faculty Salary Request Form as a tool to ensure the appropriate
